

GRACIE BREAKS UP T.U.C. CHIEFS' MEETING

SINGER Gracie Fields, the lassie from Lancashire, returned to Blackpool yesterday—the town where she got lost under the pier on her first visit 60 years ago. Last night was different.

For the ex-millgirl from Rochdale switched on the resort's 6½ miles of illuminations. Earlier, she broke up an informal meeting of the country's top trade union delegates. She led them from the T.U.C. conference hotel for a stroll.

With Gracie (above) on the promenade are (left to right): Ted Hill, Sir Tom O'Brien, Ron Smith, Sir William Carron, and C. T. H. Plant.