THE ALHAMBRA.

A NEW REVUE ACTRESS FOR LONDON.

The Alhambra is given to revue this week, and a very bright and merry little revue it is. But it is not the merits of "Mr. Tower of London," which is the significant feature of the show, but the fact that it introduces to London, or perhaps we should say to West London, a new revue actress of great ability and splendid promise.

As singer, dancer, diseuse, and comédienne, Miss Gracie Fields carried all before her, and her reception by a crowded house was as enthusiastic as it was deserved. We should have liked all she did repeated, encores were numerous, and Miss Fields was called and called again when the curtain fell.

Especial mention must be made of Mr. Archie Pitt, the writer and producer of the revue, who played Mr. Tower, of London, in his many phases, with a quiet humour which made every point tell.

For the rest there was an excellent little company and a vivacious chorus. A really capital show of its kind.

We shall see Miss Gracie Fields, however, in bigger shows, for now London has found her, it will not willingly let her go.
